with Luis Sarmiento

Luis Sarmiento, Vice President of Sales at David Lerner Associates, discusses options to help avoid student debt. Studies show that the average student debt in 2014 was just under $29,000. The long-term impact of this can mean monthly payments for up to 25 years, and paying back much more than the original loan. Strategies include saving early with financial plans, accounts, etc., grants and scholarships, and attending local or community colleges.
