There Be Dragons

Dragonflies...Fascinating and Beautiful Creatures

Presented by John Black, President of the Native Plant Society of NJ

Insects may not be on our minds now, but before long they'll be flitting around and the dragonfly is one of the most fascinating of insects. Learn about these amazing and misunderstood creatures that patrol our ponds and waterways. John Black, a Master Naturalist and Certified Interpretative guide, has been captivated by dragonflies his entire life. His program explains the many features and behaviors that make these insects so wonderfully amazing and beneficial.

There will be a Plant Swap table, in addition to the HCL Library Seed Exchange upstairs in the Reference Department. Please consider donating seeds from your own garden or unused seeds from commercial packets (2016-2018) as the Seed Exchange in being highly used!
