The Lost City of the Monkey God by Douglas Preston

Tuesday September 11 at 7 pm

This intriguing documentary reveals the planning and execution of the continual search for a lost city and civilization that, until 2015, was believed to be nothing more than rumor. The undiscovered Honduran civilization remained hidden for hundreds of years for several good reasons. Legends and myths, some completely false and others bearing elements of truth, have circulated about this area; both intriguing and cautioning researchers and potential explorers. New "ground breaking" technology (pun intended) helps pinpoint the potential area, but nothing beats 'boots on the ground' to prove and establish its existence.

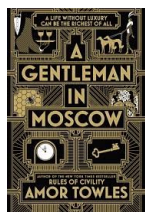

The Woman in Cabin 10 by Ruth Ware

Tuesday October 9 at 7 pm

Lo Blacklock, a travel magazine journalist, landed the assignment of a lifetime: a week on a luxury cruise ship with only a handful of cabins. At first, the trip is perfect. But as frigid winds whip the deck and gray skies fall, Lo witnesses a woman being thrown overboard. The problem? All passengers remain accounted for--and so the ship sails on as if nothing happened, despite Lo's increasingly desperate attempts to convey that something has gone terribly, terribly wrong.

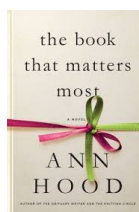

A Gentleman in Moscow by Amor Towles

Tuesday November 13 at 7 pm

In 1922, Count Alexander Rostov, deemed an unrepentant aristocrat by a Bolshevik tribunal, is sentenced to house arrest in the Metropol, a grand hotel across the street from the Kremlin. Rostov must live in an attic room as some of the most tumultuous decades in Russian history unfold outside the hotel's doors. Unexpectedly, his reduced circumstances provide him a doorway into a much larger world of emotional discovery

The Book That Matters Most by Ann Hood

Tuesday December 11 at 7 pm

Ava's twenty-five-year marriage has fallen apart, and her grown children are pursuing their own lives. Ava joins a book group, not only for her love of reading but also out of sheer desperation for companionship. The group's goal throughout the year is for each member to present the book that matters most to them. Ava rediscovers a mysterious book from her childhood--one that helped her through the traumas of the untimely deaths of her sister and mother.
