

New Jersey MAKERS DAY

March 25, 2017 10am-4pm

South County Branch Library

1432 Route 179, Unit B1, Lambertville, NJ 08530

We are a community of makers. NJ Makers Day brings together do-it-yourselfers, artists, crafters, computer programmers, and robotics fans for a day of interactive, creative, inventing. Over 250 libraries and schools will take part in this statewide event. Visit NJMakersday.org for more information on the statewide event. Please check hclibrary.us for updates to this schedule.

At the South County Branch Library:

- Holcombe-Jimison Farmstead Museum presentation.
- Red Mill Museum presentation.
- Build bridges from common materials and see how much weight they can hold
- Paper Automata, which are machines made of paper
- BristleBots, simple robots to clean up spills
- Simple circuits with unlikely power sources including fruit!)
- Button making!!! Take home a button.
- Legos will be available all day for free-building opportunities!
- And much, much more!!!
