Exhibits at the North County Branch Library

January
Masterful Mosaics
The students of Lori Young’s studio Masterful Mosaics, in Pittstown, share their creativity in stained glass. Their decorative glass “drawings” and “photos” are guaranteed to amaze & delight. In addition to beautifully colored windows and hangings, these glass creations include functional pieces like vases, lampshades and custom glass tiles. Lori’s motto is “I can mosaic anything.” Once you see this exhibit, you will have no doubt that she can. You may even be inspired to take a class.

Dynamic Abstracts
Clinton artist John Madden has been drawing & painting his whole life; with training as diverse as Rutgers classes – during which he was commissioned to provide a large painting - and workshops with impressionist painter Ty Hodanish. John’s goal is to create art that will attract and hold attention. From a distance, his works appear strongly abstract. As the viewer gets closer, patterns coalesce into figurative images that draw the eye throughout the painting. John enjoys slipping a tinge of humor into his paintings, so watch the details for surprises.

February
SOMI Fine Art Gallery
SOMI (South of Mine Street) is an artist-managed gallery arrayed around an historic beehive kiln inside the Stangl Factory building, in the heart of Flemington. SOMI is comprised of 7 artists representing a wide range of emerging art and fine art craft: oil and acrylic paintings, pastels, photographs, jewelry, pottery, stained glass mosaics, paintings on silk and much more. This show features a wide range of techniques and styles by both permanent and rotating exhibitors on display at the SOMI gallery. SOMI artists look forward to meeting you in person at their gallery, or on the website www.somifineart.com.
